Tell the Royal Commission - a practical, supportive workshop to share your experience

Free workshop with guests from the Disability Royal Commission

Know what you want to say to the Disability Royal Commission but not sure how to say it? Need a little support? Don't know where to start?

This free, practical workshop is where you can learn tips and get support for you to work on your submission. There will be real examples and experienced advocates to encourage your voice.

This is an interactive workshop designed to support people as a group. There will be some group work where you will be talking with others in the workshop about your ideas.

There will also be set aside space where you can work on your input by yourself or with the support of examples and advice from advocates.

Who is this workshop for?

People with disability and their families with something to say to the Commission.
